1. Purpose and operating rule

This pack provides the field-ready documents that authorised Sovereignty Logistics couriers and escorts may need before, during and immediately after overseas missions. It converts the controlled forms and work instructions in LIB-001, together with emergency controls in CRM-001, into standalone files that can be downloaded quickly from the secure website backend.

The secure backend is the authoritative source for current blank templates and controlled reference material. Completed mission records are mission-confidential records and must be stored in the approved mission record area, not returned to the general template library.

Where a person is formally appointed as a diplomatic courier by a sending State, the official appointment and mission documents govern that status. Internal Sovereignty Logistics assignment as courier or escort does not itself create diplomatic status, immunity or access rights.

2. Portal structure

PORTAL AREA	CONTENTS
MISSION ESSENTIALS	Operations Order, assignment/fitness, authority verification, risk assessment, pre-departure release, check-in log, equipment and offline pack checklist.
CONSIGNMENT & CUSTODY	Consignment declaration, packaging/seal record, chain of custody and pouch/seal/handover work instructions.
AIRPORT, BORDER & TRAVEL	Airline/airport record, border/biosecurity checklist, mission

	change record and screening/disruption/denied-carriage record.
DELIVERY & POST-MISSION	Recipient authentication/proof of delivery and mission debrief/closure record.
EMERGENCY QUICK REFERENCE	Incident, crisis, missing/detained courier and medical records plus eight quick-reference cards and emergency contact directory.
WORK INSTRUCTIONS	Eight controlled field methods covering pouch preparation, seals, messages, time conventions, evidence, corrections, welfare contacts and handover.
COUNTRY / ROUTE ANNEXES	Current mission-specific country, airport, protocol, emergency, security, health and communications information.

3. Mission Essentials - pin these first

4. Offline availability standard

No deployed courier or escort is to rely on internet access as the only means of obtaining mission-essential documents.

Before departure, the authorised mission pack must be synchronised to an approved encrypted company device. Where mission risk or local conditions justify it, an appropriately protected printed contingency pack should also be carried.

The offline copy is a controlled contingency copy. Current blank templates remain controlled by the secure backend, and completed mission records must be returned to the approved records system after mission closure.

5. Access model

ROLE	ACCESS
Courier / Escort	Current field forms, work instructions, emergency cards, assigned route annex and authorised mission records.
Duty Officer / Mission Controller	Courier access plus mission-control, incident, change, check-in and crisis records.
Management	Full field pack plus governance, quality, commercial, regulatory and launch-management records.
Website developer	Blank controlled templates and portal metadata only. No live mission, passport, authority, custody, legal, insurance, personnel or client-confidential records.

7. Emergency use rule

In immediate danger, protect life first, contact local emergency services and follow lawful crew/airport/police/medical directions. Company forms must never delay rescue, evacuation, urgent treatment or lawful emergency action.

8. Developer implementation requirements

- Display PDFs for normal read-only viewing and provide DOCX download only to authenticated users who need editable blank templates.
- Pin Mission Essentials and Emergency Quick Reference at the top of the Courier / Escort dashboard.
- Do not expose documents through guessable public URLs. Require server-side authentication, individual accounts and role-based access.
- Do not store live mission records in the general document library. Provide a separate mission-specific authenticated record area if that functionality is implemented.
- Show document code and version in the portal metadata and preserve superseded versions only in the restricted archive.

9. Source control

Standalone FRM-008 through FRM-027 and FRM-036 reproduce the controlled field names and completion requirements from LIB-001 Version 1.0. WI-001 through WI-008 reproduce the controlled field methods in LIB-001. QRC-001 through QRC-008 are concise field prompts derived from CRM-001 Version 1.0 emergency response sections. CRA-001 and FOP-CHK-001 are field implementation templates created to support the portal and offline mission-pack requirements already established by the SLIMS suite.
